

171. AN ODE TO THE MORNING

(II Peter 1:19 We have a more sure word of prophecy; whereunto ye do well that ye take heed, as unto a light that shineth in a dark place, until the day star arise in your hearts.)

Arranged by Eugene F. Amormino

Words and Music by Arlene L. Buffington

1. A lit - tle wren sings of the morn - ing light, It
2. The lit - tle wren's song, it went on and on, It
3. The lit - tle wren sings of the day star's shine, It sang thru the storm and it sang thru the night, It sang of the day and it sang of the dawn, It lights up the world and this heart_____ of mine, The sang thru the wind, it sang thru the rain, And sang of an end to the long dark night, It day star's_____ light does - n't shine in vain, It this is the song the lit - tle wren sang.

sang this_____ ode to the morn - ing light.
lights the_____ dawn of the Peace - ful Reign.

171. AN ODE TO THE MORNING

Chorus:

Let the light shine down and the day star rise, In the hearts and minds and the east - ern skies, Let the joy burn bright thru the long dark night, And sing an ode to the morn - ing, And sing an ode to the morn - ing.